Please choose one of the four questions below and write a short essay in response to that question.

1. Health care practitioners are continually faced with ethical issues. What do you consider to be the most important ethical issue faced by health care practitioners at this time and why is it important for those in the health care field to address this issue?
2. Most of us have learned lessons in life that have changed the way we think or approach life. What is a lesson in life you have learned? Describe that lesson and how the lesson changed you.
3. Students face many challenges both in and out of school. What challenge have you faced in your life and how have you managed that challenge?
4. The television show "Survivor" just finished its third season. Who was your favorite survivor and what personal qualities made that person your favorite?
